Managing the Growth of Scholarships

There are many changes to the types and number of scholarships awarded by the government, driven primarily by the Commonwealth Learning Scholarships (CLS) program, coupled with an increase in University and/or industry funded scholarships to attract targeted student groups. Compounding this are the myriad of research scholarships, prizes, awards and grants have adding an extra administrative overhead to universities already grappling with increasingly complex administrative challenges.

At many universities the management of the scholarships process has been largely manual and often managed within "silos" across faculties and student services. The consequence of proliferating scholarships is an additional administrative strain to a process that has been typically manual and often laborious.

After considerable consultation, S1 identified the need for a dedicated, centralised, database driven software solution and has developed S1 Scholarships (S1S). S1S has the capacity to address the administrative nightmare that many universities are now facing in the area of scholarships administration. Our system is a web based solution that cuts down on administrative overheads and speeds up the entire process of securing funding sources, establishing scholarship types, evaluating applicants along with the awarding, payment and ongoing management of scholarships. This will result in significant cost savings, improvements in service levels and flow on effects to student enrollments.

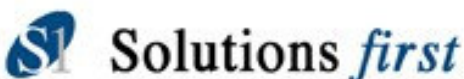

"Putting you first, keeps us in front"

S1s can be delivered as either a locally installed or hosted solution which can be easily integrated with Student and Finance Systems along with University Portals Please click here to learn more about S1s

The combination "ough" can be pronounced in nine different ways. The following sentence contains them all: "A rough-coated, dough-faced, thoughtful plough man strode through the streets of Scarborough; after falling into a slough, he coughed and hiccoughed."

The team at S1, wishes everyone a Happy and Prosperous 2006!!
